INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

Example

This example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. It assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated, that your investment has a 5% return each year, that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same, and that you redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. Although your actual costs and returns may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class I	$136	$424	$733	$1,609
Class S	$162	$502	$866	$1,889

PORTFOLIO TURNOVER

The Fund pays transactions costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses in the example, affect the Fund's performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund's portfolio turnover rate was 21.84% (both classes) of the average value of the portfolio.

PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

The Fund seeks to achieve its objectives by investing, under normal market conditions, at least 80% of its net assets in dividend-paying common stocks issued by U.S. and foreign companies. The Fund may invest the balance of its assets in preferred stocks, convertible bonds, and U.S. Treasury securities.

The Fund's diversified portfolio is designed to have lower volatility than that of a composite index comprised of 60% S&P 500 Index and 40% MSCI EAFE Index (the "Composite Index"), but with a higher yield and greater prospects for dividend growth.

The Adviser invests in dividend paying growth-oriented companies it believes exhibit the potential for growth and growing dividend payments. The Adviser believes that a company's earnings growth is a primary determinant of its potential long-term return, and that a record of increasing dividend payments is a strong indicator of financial health and growth prospects. By investing in dividend paying stocks it is anticipated that the holdings will tend to be in large to medium-sized companies (companies with market capitalization in excess of $2 billion).

The Adviser considers several factors in its evaluation of a company's potential for above average long-term earnings, revenue, and dividend growth, including:

- > a record of paying dividends,
- > strong prospects for growing dividend payments indicated in part by growing earnings and cash flow,
- > unique product or service,
- > growing product demand,
- > dominant and growing market share,
- > management experience and capabilities, and
- > strong financial condition.

Since stocks that pay dividends tend to be less volatile and may not experience the same capital appreciation as stocks that don't pay dividends, the Fund's diversified portfolio of dividend paying stocks is expected to have lower volatility than that of the Composite Index, but with a higher dividend yield and greater prospects for dividend growth.

The Fund diversifies its investments among a number of different countries throughout the world, but not fewer than three countries. Under normal market conditions, the Fund will invest significantly (at least 40% of its net assets) in companies outside the U.S.

When selling equity securities for the Fund, the Adviser considers several factors, including changes in the company's fundamentals, anticipated earnings, anticipated dividend payments and financial position.

PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT RISKS

You could lose money by investing in the Fund. The principal risks of investing in the Fund are as follows:

- > Developing Markets Risk: Investment in developing markets are subject to unique political, economic, and market risks that can cause the Fund's investments to be more volatile and less liquid than investments in developed markets.
- > Dividend Paying Company Risk: The Fund's income objective may limit its ability to appreciate during a broad market advance because dividend paying stocks may not experience the same capital appreciation as non-dividend paying stocks. In addition, stocks held by the Fund may reduce or stop paying dividends which could affect the Fund's ability to generate income.
- > Growth Style Investing Risk: Different types of stocks tend to shift into and out of favor with stock market investors depending on market and economic conditions. The Fund invests in growth style stocks. The Fund's performance may at times be better or worse than the performance of funds that focus on other types of stocks or that have a broader investment style.
- > International Investing Risk: International investing involves risks not typically associated with investing in U.S. securities which may adversely affect the Fund's investment. These risks include currency risk, foreign securities market risk, foreign tax risk, information risk, investment restriction risk, and political and economic risks.
- > Management Risk: A strategy used by the investment management team may not produce the intended results.

- > Market Risk: The market value of securities may fall or fail to rise. Market risk may affect a single issuer, sector of the economy, or the market as a whole. The market value of securities may fluctuate, sometimes rapidly and unpredictably.
- > Mid Cap Stock Risk: Stocks of mid cap stocks may be subject to more abrupt or erratic market movement than stocks of larger, more established companies.
